

Dear Parents,

I am thrilled to announce that our grade xxx class has decided to participate in an exciting global movement called Design for Change, the largest global movement of children creating positive impact around the world.

The Design for Change movement was established in India as a means to provide children an opportunity to express their own ideas for a better world, and put those ideas into action through a project based format. This year, Design for Change reaches 33 countries and over 300,000 schools and organizations. All projects are conducted under guidance and supervision of a teacher/mentor – and all projects ideas are derived from the students themselves.

Through Design for Change, our class will learn how to become holistic, independent and empowered thinkers. This experience will also teach us how to work effectively in teams, the value of working together and the importance of helping our community.

I request that you help us in our mission by participating in the change we are trying to create. You are invited to contact me with any questions or concerns, or ideas on how you would like to be involved. If you have expertise in a specific field, an exciting hobby or experience with a certain culture, we would love to know.

Below you will find a link to the Design for Change website and my contact information.

Thank you for your time and support!
